

ARTISAN HOUSE

C. Jere'®
by artisan house®

An artist sketches the branches of a tree. A craftsman transforms the drawing into a unique metal sculpture. A design-savvy consumer spots the piece, admiring it for its gallery-like style and buying it at its ungallery-like price.

This is the beauty of Artisan House. Since 1964, we've created and crafted an extraordinary collection of affordable metal wall art and sculpture for home and hospitality settings. Designed in our C. Jeré studio in Los Angeles, our craftsmen create these pieces from rich metals including copper, bronze, brass, steel aluminum and chrome, then hand-finish them with unique textures, paints and patinas. Because each one is handcrafted, no two are exactly alike, yet each of them shares the distinctive C. Jeré signature. More than just a name, it is a mark of excellence guaranteeing that the piece is a true Artisan House original.

Over the years, art lovers throughout the world have collected our signed and dated sculptures. Our sculptures are regularly featured in leading shelter magazines including Architectural Digest and Elle Décor.

The Artisan House Story

The history of Artisan House goes back to the early days following the end of World War II, when two men first met, developed a close personal and working relationship, and set about redefining decorative metal sculpture in the second half of the 20th century. Jerry Fells and Kurt Freiler were, and will forever be, “C. Jeré”, the iconic corporate signature of Artisan House, for over 50 years.

“Curtis Jeré” is a compound nom de plume of the founders Kurt and Jerry, intended to add a more “European” flair to the mystery persona behind the scenes. The two originally began producing a line of fine crafted copper, silver and enamel jewelry under the label of Renoir/Matisse. Many of Hollywood’s leading ladies have been captured in both film and photograph wearing these now collectible ornaments.

The founders later decided to expand their business and enter a different market by creating “jewelry for the interior”. Their innovative vision was to provide “gallery quality” art at a modest price level, not falling into the category of “mass produced,” but rather one-of-a-kind originals.

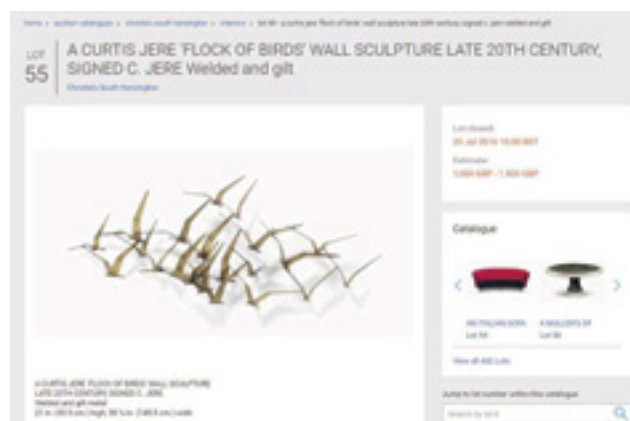

With a growing staff of highly talented artisan and craftsmen, this home grown troupe forged, shaped, torched, hammered, painted, and bronzed their way into design history. With the strong resurgence of “Mid Century Modern” design in recent years, classic C. Jeré designs have experienced a revival and have been reintroduced into the line.

An active market for vintage C. Jeré pieces has resulted in prices exceeding 10 times their original value in auctions. Vintage Artisan House artwork can be found on high-end auction sites like Christies.com and 1stdibs.com, and in antique stores such as Mantiques Modern in New York City.

Today, Artisan House has successfully established a loyal network of global distribution and participates in major trade shows throughout the world. We enter our sixth decade in business with the same enthusiasm and commitment to excellence as in our early days of existence.

We thank you for considering Artisan House and hope that you find that our distinctive works bring new dimensions to your homes or businesses.
